Do you have any additional comments?

The lectures were pretty good and interesting, and the material was well conveyed. I appreciated the regular examples and illustrations.

Suzan has a clear understanding of the topics she teaches. She checks regularly if everyone understands the topics that are explained and gives an additional explanation to those who don't.

She explains clearly in the lectures, it's really noticeable she puts some effort in this. I like her the most of the three teachers of information retrieval. When she askes questions to the audience they are really relevant (not just some questions to get interaction). Her English has a Dutch accent (but I can easily live with that). The slides are also suitable for use after the lecture, for example when making the assignments.

The teacher was one of few teachers that has lectures which are always clear and easy to follow. The "storyline" within the lectures was very good, i.e. each lecture was always one whole and different subjects where linked well. Besides that interaction with students was always high.

Good job.

Very good teacher with excellent communication and approachability does not answer mail within 30 minutes #sadface

This teacher gets you trough the lecture material very quickly which is nice because it keeps the attention span present. For those who cannot keep up, she is always willing to eleborate and explain on the question.

lecture involving and keeps me focused on the topic, good relation between examples, theory and practical applications

I liked: - That the slides were usually straight to the point, compared to the other IR lecturers. - How the exercises usually seemed to be carefully selected. Unfortunately, I did not like the grading process for the exercises: - The exercises were not given back after grading. - Halving the number of points for just 2 mistakes worked de-motivationally for me.
